

ORANGE CITY COUNCIL – D6

Honoring our Past. Planning for our Future

About Adrienne

Adrienne Joy Gladson is a third generation Californian. She grew up and attended great local public schools. After graduating from California State University, Fullerton, she began a career in public service that would last over three decades. From the Main library in Orange to the Orange Planning Department, Adrienne grew intimately familiar with Orange's rich history and the rules and processes of local government.

Adrienne's extensive knowledge of city planning, land use, planning and environmental law, entitlement process, historic preservation, and urban design, prepares her to bring needed change and restored trust as our Councilmember on day one.

Adrienne is deeply involved in the community of Orange, both as a volunteer and as a member and leader on numerous local boards and organizations. Adrienne was appointed by the City Council to the Orange Design Review Committee in 2007 and served on the Orange Planning Commission from 2011 to 2017. She was selected by her Commission colleagues as Chair, serving from April 2015 to March 2017.

Adrienne does not take clients or represent projects in the City of Orange and has voluntarily pledged not to take campaign donations from developers that require discretionary approval by the city.

Adrienne's core values and ethical principals provide her with the energy and grit to serve the community. She is anchored in her faith and its life changing power which she aspires to model daily and it is what grounds her during those good as well as challenging times of life.

Adrienne's vision for Orange is deeply rooted in keeping the city safe, clean, business-friendly and a great place to live, work, and raise a family. She believes all those who call Orange their home should be given every opportunity to thrive.

Why I'm Running...

I'm running for City Council to bring change and give the people of Orange its voice back. I will bring my lifetime of experience, local leadership, and a common-sense approach to City Hall. I want to give back and serve this great community that has been my home for over 30 years.

We must raise the bar instead of settling for the same broken status quo. As your Councilmember, I will fight every single day on behalf of the residents of Orange so we can move the city we love forward, including:

- Keeping crime low and making public safety our top priority
- Attracting new industry and commerce to Orange by creating a business-friendly environment
- Protecting taxpayers, reducing waste, balancing our city budget, and maintaining fiscal responsibility
- Developing new traffic solutions and improving our city streets and sidewalks
- Mandating public transparency and streamlining city services
- Ending the divisive rhetoric and conflicts that put at risk the strides we've made
- Establishing a culture that places a premium on community input and engagement
